BACKGROUND

Roanoke County operated the Dixie Caverns site as an unpermitted disposal site for municipal and industrial wastes between 1965-1976. In 1983, EPA completed a Preliminary Assessment of the Site and identified several disposal areas, including a large fly ash pile. As a result of the initial investigations, the County of Roanoke signed a Consent Agreement and Order with EPA in 1987 to conduct a removal action at three disposal areas; a discarded drum area, a sludge pit, and the fly ash pile. The County completed removal activities in the drum area and sludge pit EPA approved the County's plan to treat the fly ash using a proprietary stabilization process. The treated waste was to be placed on site.

The removal activities in the drum disposal area consisted of the removal of construction debris, tires, and approximately 300 drums. Sampling from the drum disposal area indicated high levels of volatile and semi-volatile organic compounds.

The removal activities for the sludge pit consisted of the removal of approximately 500 cubic yards of sludge and contaminated soil that was disposed of off-site in an approved hazardous waste disposal facility. This area contained high levels of various organic compounds.

The site was formally listed on the National Priority List on October 4, 1989. The fly ash was identified by EPA as being K061, under RCRA. The primary chemicals of concern were inorganic metals derived from the fly ash pile, present mainly in surface waters and stream sediments in the vicinity of and downstream from the fly ash pile. VOCs and SVOCs (specifically, polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons or "PAHs" and phthalate esters) were present primarily in the sludge pit and drum disposal areas and soils therein, and were addressed in during the first removal action.

The fly ash pile was addressed separately from the rest of the Site as Operable Unit 1 (OU1). On September 30, 1991, EPA issued a Record of Decision (ROD) OU1 to address the approximately 9,000 cubic yards of K061 waste (fly ash). The selected remedy was removal of the fly ash from the Site and treatment of the fly ash at a High Temperature Metals Recovery facility. The Remedial Action was formally initiated on August 15, 1994. The Contractor conducted remedial activities for OU 1, as planned. EPA Concurrence Notices dated November 15, 1995 and January 30, 1996, issued by EPA, documented that the Remedial Action and the Work had been completed.

At the time that the 1991 ROD was issued, EPA designated all other areas of the Site (except the K061 fly ash waste pile) as Operable Unit 2 (OU2), and addressed these areas in the Remedial Investigation Report dated January 1992. As part of the Remedial Investigation for OU2, surface water and sediment samples were obtained from the small streams adjacent to the northern portion of the Site. The samples revealed three contaminants of potential concern (lead, cadmium and zinc).

Because of high levels of inorganic contaminants found in stream sediments, EPA determined that an expedited response was required. On August 28, 1992, EPA and the Potentially Responsible Parties signed an Administrative Order by Consent for Removal Action to identify the extent of contamination in two stream onsite and in soils in the vicinity of and directly below the K061 waste pile; eliminate the contamination; and remove, treat, and/or dispose of contaminated soils in the vicinity of and directly beneath the K061 waste pile.

The Potentially Responsible Parties prepared a Response Action Plan (RAP), approved by EPA, detailing how contaminated sediments and soils would be identified, removed, stabilized using a proprietary process developed by Roanoke Electric Steel to incorporate the waste in concrete blocks, and then landfilling the blocks on-site in a properly designed landfill (Monofill site).

Implementation of the RAP took place from 1993 to 1997. The work occurred in five steps. Step one was planning. The RAP was prepared, sampling of stream sediment was conducted, and remedial strategies were formed.

Step two involved the removal of the contaminated sediment and soil. Soil sampling confirmed the success of the removal and the control areas were certified clean.

Step three was on-site stabilization. The on-site stabilization chemically fixated and immobilized the solid wastes containing hazardous constituents, thereby greatly minimizing the dissolution and migration of these constituents into the environment.

Step four was ultimate disposal. A RCRA subtitle "C" compliant landfill was designed and constructed for disposal of the stabilized sediment and soil. A leachate collection system was constructed to collect any potential leachate.

Step five was to clean-up the site. Access, roadway, and production areas were cleaned, equipment was decontaminated, and mixing equipment was disposed of. Contaminated soils from the clean-up were stabilized and disposed of in the landfill prior to closure.

A final inspection was conducted by EPA on July 31, 1997. On September 18, 1997, EPA agreed that the requirements for the removal action were complete.

EPA selected no further action as the remedy for OU2. The OU2 ROD addresses those areas of the Site which were not addressed by the OU 1, or the Removal Order. The OU2 ROD was signed September 28, 1992.

A Post Closure Care Plan for the on-Site landfill containing the stabilized soils and sediments was developed to provide methods and schedules for operation and maintenance of the landfill components, including vegetative cover, erosion and sediment control, and the landfill leachate collection and disposal system.

EPA deleted this site from the National Priority List effective September 28, 2001.

The only ongoing work activities being performed at the Dixie Caverns County Landfill Superfund Site are the ongoing Operations and Maintenance (O&M) of the landfill containing the stabilized sediment and soils (Monofill), O&M of the leachate collection system, semi - annual site inspections, and five year site inspections.

After negotiations have been conducted with each Offeror so selected, the public body shall select the Offeror which, in its opinion, has made the best proposal, and shall award the contract to that Offeror. When the terms and conditions of multiple awards are so provided in the Request for Proposal, awards may be made to more than one Offeror.*

Should the public body determine in writing and in its sole discretion that only one Offeror is fully qualified, or that one Offeror is clearly more highly qualified than the others under consideration, a contract may be negotiated and awarded to that Offeror.
